

Halloween Movie Master Game

How well do your guests know Halloween movies?

Set up different "homage's" (create scenes) to scary movies and have guests try to guess (as singles or in pairs) what they were.

Examples:

One of my tombstones in the graveyard read "GAGE" - the kid from Pet Cemetery,

A Chianti bottle sitting next to a plate with a piece of liver and beans on it, - Silence of the Lambs

I had a guest register set up by the door for people to sign in with the name Marion Crane at the top
- she's the woman from PSYCHO.

This game takes a bit of time to set up, but can be a lot of fun to see if guests can decode your Halloween brain teasers. If possible have 15 -20 movies represented and have the people who score the most movies - win a small prize or a gift certificate to Blockbuster.

Thanks, Shannon