

Halloween Story Game

Each year we have a huge Halloween party for our kids, one year, we sent the beginning of a ghoulish story in with the invitation and the party guests had to finish the story. The story can be about a haunted house, Halloween mystery or anything creative.

During the party we dimmed the lights and read the original part of the story and then one by one read the story endings. Once they were read we voted for the best, weirdest, and scariest stories. I still have the ones the kids did and love to reread them at Halloween, even though it has been years. Hope this will help others out there have a spooky Halloween.
