“Teespring is a great method to design and advertise custom-made t-shirts according to a buyer’s personal expectations online without any inconvenience, pre-cost or risk.”

As per the definition, Teespring is a completely zero cost approach to marketing high quality t-shirts. Precisely create a t-shirt with an artful concept related to fashion, decide a selling price, incorporate an objective, and put it up for sale.

Teespring will print the shirt and ship it directly to the customer and you make money. Setting up a campaign only takes a few for you to initiate sales with amazing apparel on Teespring.

You can promote your Teespring campaign by communicating with your consumers via websites or Facebook ads targeting your prospective customers.

Teespring is generally used by marketers to make profits, raise funds for charity causes, artists to show off their work, celebrities to influence their brand positively and many other reasons.

It is really fast and simple to generate money, you can also run a campaign on social media networks to boost your sales. If you are not currently doing Teespring, all you have to do is just design your perfect tees and sell them as your own t-shirts to get started

■ How Teespring works:

Working with Teespring is really easy. It's a "no-brainer" you can make profits with. Designing a t-shirt campaign with Teespring can be fun. You don't need to have expertise in art or advertising.

Identify the niche:

Look for keywords and recognize a t-shirt niche that has the prospective customers who really like to display their passion and you can get huge profits. You can use the Google Keyword Planner to find keywords.

Set up a campaign:

To create a tee campaign, you get started with the online application to design your own tee campaign. Opt for a brand name, description, and URL for your campaign. Always keep in mind that you will need to promote it later, so take advantage of keywords in the URL and brand name.

Design T-shirts:

Now, decide how many and which types of t-shirts you want to advertise on your website. You can create your own design related to your niche keywords or outsource the designs. You can utilize only text, only image and both text and images in your t-shirt design. Teespring supports GIF, JPG, PNG, PSD, and TIFF image files. Remember to try to follow your store theme.

Advertise it:

After completing the design part, you need to attract traffic to your store to initiate sales. You can use various types of online advertising platforms such as SEO (Search Engine Optimization) to appear in organic search results, Google AdWords to promote with PPC ads, and Facebook ads to advertise it on Facebook, etc.

You can also generate gossip on social media networks by sharing, tweeting and liking to boost up t-shirts sales.

Earn profit:

After running a successful T-shirt campaign, determine your profit by calculating the difference between the pre-fixed price set by Teespring and your selling price. Your profit depends on how much more the selling price is than the base price per shirt. The Base Price will directly go to Teespring and only the profit will end up in your pocket.

Chapter V: The 10 do's you have to apply.

1. Choose a suitable niche

Similar to other advertising campaigns, you need to know your prospective audience and market. The more research you do to discover a suitable market, the better prospective audience you will get.

It is important to know why your niche market buy tees from you. Be focused on your audience and you will be able to opt for the most profitable niche. You can research on Google.com, Zazzle.com, Wanelo.com, Skreened.com, ebay.com, and trends24.in to find enticing t-shirt ideas.

Every campaign starts with a niche, if you are unable to find an appropriate niche, you can't proceed further to the designing part and campaign promotional part. So it is necessary to define a niche and sub niches before you start your Teespring campaign.

2. Define prospective audience

You have a great concept to design excellent t-shirts, but before designing, you need to research about your prospective audience. Every t-shirt has an expected audience, and you either understand it or you don't.

To learn about your Teespring campaign's potential customers, you need to ask yourself, "who is going to wear this and what are their behaviors?" If you're already aware of your market, then you need to create an audience to advertise to them to begin a profitable Teespring campaign.

You can segment your audience on the basis of their behavior, geographics, and interests to target them better and enhance the chances of selling your t-shirts.

3. Retargeting

If you're running a successful Teespring campaign, but the conversion rate is low, you can take advantage of retargeting to get visitors that didn't buy from you in the past back to your site.

Retargeting your audience enables you to boost t-shirts sales extensively. You can use Google retargeting and Facebook retargeting options to get your lost audience to return and give you another opportunity to convert them into customers.

You need to login into your Teespring dashboard and include retargeting pixels in your t-shirt campaign. You can also create custom audiences to target that have the same interests as your existing customers.

Chapter VI: The 10 don'ts you have to avoid.

1. Working for random niches

Most marketers want to get too many sales too quickly with their Teespring campaign, so they go with multiple Teespring niches and keep doing multiple things at the same time to get maximum profit. They become unable to focus on every niche at the same time and start losing time and money.

To get beyond this, you need to find the particular Teespring niche in which you are interested. Dealing in a single niche enables you to be specific and focused with your campaign to get to your desired goals.

2. Lack of awareness for targeted audience

Targeting everyone or opting for the wrong targeted audience to advertise your Teespring campaign can harm your reputation, decrease your sales badly, and have an unfavorable effect on profit margins.

To overcome the situation, you need to determine the goal of your Teespring campaign who you want to advertise to and who will like to wear your t-shirts. With this, you will come to know who falls into your targeted audience.

You can segment your audience into groups to target individually with an appropriate ad copy displaying an image of your t-shirt design. Advertising to your prospects improves the sales of your Teespring campaign, enabling you to generate more profit and build more brand awareness.

3. Using non attractive designs

Not focusing on the design part of a teespring campaign is not a good idea. If the t-shirts designed for your Teespring campaign are not attractive and don't have a proper title or description to grab the attention of your potential audience, you will not accomplish your goals and sales for you teespring campaign will drop.

Design is the very initial thing that you need to keep in your mind to engage the right audience. Look for good designs or take various tee ideas from Teeview, TheTeeTitan, TeeProfit, etc.

Seek to reduce the number of colors from the design and don't make typing mistakes. You can use a punch line with an image and add these things into your campaign to get a profitable outcome.
